INTERNATIONAL BRIDGE BLOWN UP IN MAINE; U. S. OFFICERS CAPTURE GERMAN SUSPECT

Declared Mysterious Prisoner or Confessed Using Dynamite.

ONE PIER PARTIALLY WRECKED

Bridge is on Line Connecting New England With the Maritime Provinces and Interruption to Traffic Will Seriously Cripple Canadian Trade.

By Associated Press.
VANCOUVER, Me., Feb. 2.—An attempt to destroy the railroad bridge spanning the St. Charles river, which forms the international boundary line between Eastern Maine and New Brunswick was made early today. One of the three spans of the structure was blown up by dynamite.

The attack on the bridge caused great excitement on the New Brunswick side, where rumors of a German plot spread rapidly and resulted in an immediate investigation by the provincial authorities.

Inquiry was also begun on this side and this led to the arrest at a local hotel of a man who gave his name as Hans. According to the police, the prisoner said he was an officer in the service of Germany, but refused to divulge his rank. The police suspect that he admitted that he exploded the dynamite under a section of the bridge and that a dynamite cap and a plan of the bridge were found in his pockets.

He was removed to the United States immigration room where he was closely guarded.

Deputy Sheriff Ross notified the United States district attorney at Portland, asking for instructions.

When taken into custody at his room in the hotel, Hans made no resistance, but is alleged to have told the officers of the circumstances of the dynamiting. He seemed unable to speak very good English. No papers were found to identify him. In a card pocket he carried a German passport.

Asked why he had dynamited the bridge, the prisoner, the police say, made the simple explanation that his country was at war with Great Britain and that Canada was a part of the enemy's country. He said, according to the officers, that he came from New York, having left that city on Friday night, and arrived here Saturday, immediately after discharging the explosive he returned to his hotel.

As evidence of his experience, he displayed a front-finger thumb. His clothing had been encrusted with ice and was soaked through.

The bridge is the connecting link between the Maine Central and the Canadian Pacific tracks, the Canadian Pacific having traffic rights over the Maine Central from Mattawamkeag to the boundary. This is the through route from upper and western Canada to the Maritime Provinces, directly connecting Montreal with the port of St. John and Halifax.

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—According to a statement issued today by the Canadian Pacific Railway the railway bridge dynamited at Vancouver was only slightly damaged.

Passenger trains are crossing the bridge, passengers not having to leave the cars.

GERMANS BEGIN NEW ADVANCE ON WARSAW
By Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 2.—The German line after a long period of preparation appears today, judging from reports reaching here, to be putting into operation plans for an advance on Warsaw. At the same time the Austrians seem to have renewed their forward movement in the Carpathians. The fighting there is expected to decide for the period of the war the masters of the most important passes through the mountains—Zakop, Dulka and Wysskow.

The strategic value of these passes is because Warsaw is almost due south of Lemberg while Gdansk is in the same relative position from Poznan and Dulka is situated similarly with regard to Cracow. The fighting in the Carpathians apparently has not yet assumed full proportions but the Austro-German concentration in this region, notwithstanding Russian reinforcements.

Spirited contests are in progress in the western war zone also, the Germans having attacked in force at Laishae and along the coast. The French assert the battle of Laishae has not resulted in a change of positions while along the coast the German attack is directed at the recovery of the Great Dune, an artillery position near Lumberville which, however, remains in the possession of the allies.

London's Zeppelin scare of last night seems to have been in the nature of a rehearsal. No foundation is discoverable for the rumors that German air craft were traveling over Dover. The firing of the Dover forts is said to have been a warning to ships which did not comply with port regulations.

The German submarine raiders although not known positively to have been in the Irish Sea within 24 hours, still hold in port most of the coasting steamers and fishing boats. Liverpool insurance men are quoting rates approximately four times the former figure.

From South Africa comes the news that arrangements are under way there for surrender of the rebel leaders Maritz and Kemp. It is stated they have disagreed with their German advisers.

RUSSIAN ADMIT GAIN BY THE GERMAN LEGIONS

By Associated Press.
PETROGRAD, Feb. 2.—Renewal of a fierce offensive by the Germans in the region of Sochaczew, on the road to Warsaw is admitted in an official statement here today. The statement of the German attack compelled some of the Russian units to retire to the second line of trenches. The communication follows:

"On the right bank of the lower Vistula on January 31 our cavalry made a sudden and successful assault upon the German line between Hrasan and Lasko. The German attack compelled some of the Russian units to retire to the second line of trenches. The communication follows:

"On the left bank of the Vistula at the villages of Makow and Dyblin the enemy was thrown back. The Germans in retreating at Makow abandoned many of their dead.

"In the course of the day of January 31 the enemy after having concentrated in the region south of Hrasan, a large force of artillery, developed active operations against our positions which were formidable forces. The German effort was distinguished by great tenacity, advancing in close ranks, strongly supported from the rear.

"After having concentrated a violent fire in the morning upon that region, the German offensive compelled some of our units to retire to the second line of trenches. In the mean while a counter attack from another detachment of our forces drove the enemy from all the trenches occupied by him, inflicting upon him enormous losses.

"Simultaneous with this attack the Germans delivered a fierce and ferocious assault against our front between the villages of Gromnie and Mochy. These attacks were supported by artillery fire. Up to mid-day of January 31, every one of these assaults was driven back by us, some by our rifle fire and some by our machine gun fire.

"The fighting in the Carpathians continues and we were successful in repelling every endeavor of the enemy who assumed the offensive in the vicinity of Mount Beskid and we are continuing our advance with success along the front from Mijluta Polanska to Lendvash.

ALL FOODSTUFFS ARE DESTROYED BY THE GERMANS

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Great Britain notified the United States today, although not in an official form, that foodstuffs of any kind destined for Germany, Austria or Turkey will be regarded as contraband of war.

The action of the British government is based on the recent German decree whereby that government will take over all grain in Germany for common use.

Because the steamer Wilhelmina sailed for New York for Bremen before the issuance of the decree, it is understood that her cargo for Germany will be taken for that purpose.

A NEW WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT BEFORE THE HOUSE

Industrial Accident Board One of the Provisions.

$638,000 IN DEFICIENCY BILL

Representative Lynch of Fayette Introduces Bill Prohibiting Unnaturalized Foreigners From Keeping Dogs; Aim Is to Protect Birds and Sheep.

By Associated Press.
HARRISBURG, Feb. 2.—The first bill to pass the House was the general deficiency bill covering an appropriation of $638,000 and which was introduced by the introduction of a large number of bills.

That which attracted most attention was the workmen's compensation bill by Representative Lynch of Philadelphia. It is modeled after the Michigan and New Jersey laws and provides for industrial accident board. Every employer is presumed to accept the act, but should the employer reject the law, the employer retains the common-law defense of contributory negligence. The rate of compensation is fixed at 60 per cent of income with a limit of 400 weeks for ordinary accidents. For permanent disability the limit is 600 weeks and the minimum payment $4,000. In case of death, payment is to be made to dependents of $10 for 300 weeks. Medicine and surgical assistance also is provided for.

Representative Lynch of Fayette county introduced a bill prohibiting unnaturalized foreigners from owning dogs and killing wild birds or animals. The board of game commissioners is to take possession of dogs and dispose of them as it sees fit.

Another bill which attracted attention was that by Senator Senneker of Westmoreland requiring judges to render decisions within nine months of trial under penalty of having their salaries withheld by the auditor general.

When the Senate convened, Lieutenant Governor McClain announced the death of Senator John W. Brown of New York and the Senate adjourned until Monday next as a mark of respect.

GIRL HANGS HERSELF

Commit Suicide in Home Where She Was Employed at Conelton.

Special to The Courier.
UNIONTOWN, Feb. 2.—Dependent because of ill health, Harriet Curstead, 29, hanged herself to the rafters in the cellar of the residence of William Hierer on Lenox street, shortly before noon today. She had been dead for some time when found by John Hierer, who called a doctor and a coroner. A search for her when he found no dinner prepared.

The girl had been seen shortly before noon taking in clothes and, feeling up the line. It was then that the impulse to hang herself must have struck her for it was with a piece of clothes line that she formed the fatal noose.

Miss Curstead was for nine months a student nurse at the Uniontown Hospital. She was forced to give up nursing, however, because of her nervous condition and after leaving the hospital she secured a place with the Hierer family. Her parents reside at Curstead's Crossing, near Fairchance.

MERCHANTS WILLING TO OBEY LAWS SEALER BRYNER SAYS

Annual Report Shows That Many Seals Were Confiscated Since Official Went Into Office.

In his annual report to council, J. S. Bryner, sealer of weights and measures, declares that there is a commendable tendency on the part of the legitimate merchants of the city to comply with the laws and give their patrons correct weight and measure. Carelessness, rather than intent to violate the law, is the chief cause for complaints because of incorrect measures, he maintains.

His reports, however, that constant vigilance is necessary to keep hucksters from disobeying. He suggests that this type of merchant be required to pay city license tax before their measures are sealed.

During the three months he was actively in office, Mr. Bryner reports that he approved and sealed 251 scales, condemned 116, and sealed 57, and confiscated 125 dry measures, condemned 87, and confiscated 61.

Sixty-five liquid measures were sealed, 44 were condemned and 10 confiscated. Sixty-seven yardsticks were sealed, 63 condemned, 15 confiscated and 25 were removed and six tapes condemned.

There were 500 milk jars approved and sealed, but 125 were condemned. There are many more yet to be passed on, but the fact that they are arriving so makes it difficult to inspect them.

NAB MURDER SUSPECT

Unsub Man Arrested for Killing That Took Place Last Summer.

Special to The Courier.
"SOMERSET, Feb. 2.—Thomas Barre, who lives in the mountains near Uniontown, in Addison township, was brought to the Somerset jail today to answer the charge of murder preferred against him by County Judge Lester L. Wagner. He is alleged to have killed a man responsible for the death of Carl Miller, who conducted a summer resort near Uniontown last summer.

Miller died in Pittsburgh on November 15. The body was placed in a casket and taken to Uniontown. The matter was reported to the Somerset county authorities. Physicians accompanied County Detective Wagner to Mansion, where an autopsy was performed over the body and it was found that death had been due to a blow on the head.

Wagner returned to Somerset and made information against Barre. It is alleged that on August 22 last, Barre struck Miller over the head with a club when the latter remonstrated against his actions of luring a man to a rooming house in the village of Mansion. The injury, it is alleged, ultimately resulted fatally. Barre claims that he struck Miller in self-defense.

GOVERNMENT RECEIPTS DROP

Disbursements Far in Excess of Revenues Collected.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Revenue collected by the government in January failed by $8,118,577 to meet the month's disbursements. Neither customs nor internal revenue brought in the expected returns. Customs receipts were $2,658,000 in the same month last year, and $14,390,982 in December, 1914. Ordinary internal revenue receipts were $27,005,155, less by $5,000,000 than in December, and only about $2,600,000 more than receipts from the same month in January, 1914, although revenue from the emergency tax was included.

The first seven months of the fiscal year show an excess of disbursements over receipts of $70,855,270, compared with a corresponding excess for the same period last year of $17,867,600.

TAX EXEMPTIONS FOR PARSONAGES DECLARED ILLEGAL

Solicitor for School Board Makes Important Ruling.

APPLIES TO ALL BUILDINGS

Fact That Parsonage May Be Connected With the Church, or a Part of the Main Building, Does Not Exempt Congregation from Tax.

Tax matters occupied most of the time at a 55-minute session of school board last night. Chief among these was an opinion by Solicitor H. C. May to the effect that parsonages of churches may not be exonerated from taxes under existing statutes. An opinion was asked of the solicitor when the African Methodist Episcopal Church on the West Side sought an exemption. It reported that the act governing this specifies that only buildings used exclusively for religious purposes may be exempted from taxes. Even though a parsonage is under the same roof as the church, it cannot be held to be used only for church purposes.

Applications for exemptions were made by Mrs. Isabel Stillwagon and by the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers in behalf of Mrs. Charles Burns. Both were referred to the finance committee.

An order was ordered to be drawn for $35 in favor of the Keystone Planing Mill Company for taxes paid on a property that had been assessed in twice.

A request from Miss Bertha Whaley that the board pay her $100 in advance for five months' rental of the school building in the Second ward was granted, on condition that the board be fully protected in that a percent interest be deducted in advance. Miss Whaley asked this favor of the board because it will be necessary for her to go to Pittsburgh soon to undergo an operation.

Treasurer Shaw reported balances of $283.43 in the general fund and $214.41 in the sinking fund.

C. Roy Hetzel was elected the third member of the sinking fund committee and Messrs. Zeigler, Long and Shantz were appointed to the annual commencement committee.

Superintendent S. P. Asho reported that night school is keeping up well in attendance, there having been 84 at the last session. All who did not mean business, he said, have dropped out. "The school is a steady-going school for the night school who lost their jobs have started to attend day school. Principal Smith told the board.

The gas consumed by the schools in January cost the board $323.70. When the bills were read, Mr. Hetzel inquired as to why no gas or water bills were included. He was informed that there was a standing resolution for the payment of these bills, principally because they come due between board meetings. The gas bills, however, were available and read.

Members present were C. Roy Hetzel, Lloyd H. Shaw, J. H. Baskley, C. W. Hays and J. N. Davidson, who presided.

VETERANS TO BANQUET

Good Speakers Secured for Celebration of Camp Walker.

Some splendid speakers have been secured to attend the banquet of Camp Walker B. Brown, Veterans of Foreign Wars, at the West Side Hotel on Thursday night. Colonel J. E. Barnhart, commander of the Tenth Regiment when it was in the Philippines, has accepted the invitation. Colonel Richard C. Taylor, Jr., of Greensburg, present commander of the Tenth Regiment; Major George Neff of Monticello, and Congressman-elect Thomas S. Crago of Waynesburg, will be on hand.

About 55 men who saw service in the war with Spain in the Philippines will sit down at the banquet board, February 4 is the anniversary of the breaking out of the Philippine insurrection.

KIDS BACK IN SCHOOL

All But One of Cheating Gum Victims Have Recovered.

All but one of the 12 children who were made ill by chewing gum at the Polish school on the West Side last Friday, have recovered and are attending school.

None of the chewing gum of the kind which caused their illness was secured by Health Officer Hetzel. A sister of Leo Jarzank keeps a store at Lehighville, but she had none of the brand which Leo supplied to his companions. Singularly enough, Leo was the only one who did not become ill.

YOUTH ON RAMPAGE AS GROUNDHOG SEES HIS SHADOW TODAY

Flood Stage is at Hand as Result of Continuous Rains.

SUN SHINES CLEAR AT NOON

Breaks Through Clouds Which Covered Sky During the Morning and Now Six Weeks' More Winter is the Prophecy; Pittsburgh Expects Flood.

The almost continual rains since last Saturday have caused the streams throughout the region to reach flood stages and the Youth ruffians threaten to reach a higher mark than at any time since September, 1912, when a serious flood resulted. The swollen streams contributing to the Youth from its headwaters caused it to rise steadily until 7.50 feet was recorded last evening. This morning it had jumped four feet, reaching 11.50 feet. It was then rising steadily. At noon it reached 11.55.

On January 7, following a protracted thaw accompanied by heavy rains the river reached 12.10 at noon, but receded rapidly after that.

All of the creeks emptying into the Youth are swollen to miniature rivers and the lowlands everywhere are flooded. Mount Creek is higher than it has been for several years and the lowland at Dutch Bottom is submerged under about a foot of water.

The overflowing of Jacobs creek caused the West Penn trolley service to be abandoned between Scottdale and Swedeland about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. "During the early afternoon cars on the Mount Pleasant line glowed through the water but the cars that went through about 4 o'clock was the last one until 10 o'clock this morning. The tracks were covered by almost 30 inches of water for a distance of 1,500 feet. This was the first time in two years that service had been retarded, but regular service between Connelville and Greensburg was maintained by the Hunker route, and Mount Pleasant was reached by the branch at Tarr.

Flooding by the flood of 1913, residents of Swedeland, for the most part, had raised their houses, so that the present flood stage only got into their cellars. There are a number, however, whose lower floors are inundated by the waters of the creek.

Several cellars on the West Side of the river were flooded when the waters backed up through sewer pipes. The West Side Hotel was one of these victims.

Reports from Pittsburgh were to the effect that a flood stage of 23 feet probably would be reached and the Ohio river there is rising at the rate of 11 inches an hour.

Though prospects were bright (or dull) that the groundhog would not see his shadow today, the sun peeped out for a while before noon and the horrible news that hard weather is to be the menu for the next six weeks was impressed on humanity, already hopeful that it might not be. Brer Groundhog stuck around, however, until the sun came out; then he scampered back to his hole for a long period.

Contrary to this is the evidence of early spring produced by Samuel Barnes, "no found a caterpillar, or 'wooly worm,' emerging from the ground at his residence at Pittsburgh and Fayette street this morning. This is a sure sign of an early spring, he claims.

SMALL CHANCE FOR THE GROUNDHOG IN EAST.

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The groundhog has no chance to see his shadow anywhere in the east when he comes out today in accordance to tradition that means six weeks of bright days to follow. The weather bureau's prediction today is for a next 36 hours. Storm warnings are displayed on the Atlantic coast from Portland, Me., to the Virginia Capes.

STORE IS ROBBED

Reidmore Road Merchant Is Visited by Thieves During Night.

The robbery was discovered about 3.30 o'clock this morning by the proprietor who immediately phoned the police. Arrangements were made to have the bloodhounds brought down from Uniontown and no one was allowed to enter the store for fear of spoiling the trail. The dogs were brought down, but they were unable to lead to the robbers. Entrance was effected through a cellar door, which the robbers forced open.

TO CURE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this deafening affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine. A complete cure after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick tell how they have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, put out this formula and hand it to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Paracetamol (Double Strength), about 750 grains. Take this home and add to it a pint of hot water and 1/2 oz. of glycerine. Stir well and add 1/2 oz. of one, table-spoonful four times a day. Paracetamol is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian tube, but also to soothe the inflamed membrane of the middle ear, and the result is a nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form should give this water. It will soothe the inflamed membrane from this destructive disease.—Adv.

THE COAL POOL.

The formation of a coal pool to finance the Greene county election is earnestly advocated by the Union Supply Company, which insists that it would not only be highly profitable to the participants, but that they would be at little risk and expense in the matter. This being the case, it only remains to persuade capitalists of these facts, and it is to be hoped that no time will be lost or effort spared to bring the project to consummation. The Union Supply Company would require only a few millions at most to form a coal pool which would adequately meet every requirement of the situation. The fact that it was formed would of itself suffice to many investors so that not one cent need be expended. In other instances only a little would be needed to meet interest and other needs, necessary charges such as taxes. The stabilizing effect of the pool upon valuations, keeping them within legitimate limits, and the fact that the pool would be a source of income to the holders in question would more than repay any possible expenditures. Not only would such a pool raise every difficulty confronting this section, but it would have a good effect upon every financial and industrial interest in the country all of which are directly or indirectly affected by conditions here. It would not only be of vast assistance and benefit to this region, but it would richly recompense those who lend their names and their millions to create a situation financially strong but temporarily weak through the working of abnormal conditions which cannot long continue.

There can hardly be any risk in financing a proposition so substantial as that involving the coal pool in the region of the great Connelville region. The Greene county coal field is the last corner lot of coal in the world. Its value is unquestionable. With the formation of the proposed coal pool and the clearing away of the financial embarrassments of Uniontown, the business situation in the Connelville region would be much clarified, encouraged and uplifted. The firing of 2,500 brick ovens during the past two weeks and the embargement of the working time at all the plants is causing properly to walk again.

The Courier hopes the coal pool will be promptly formed.

I have taken a long time for the farmers to learn the value of "book farming," but the miracle worked by the scientists of the federal and state agricultural departments have convinced the most skeptical farmers of the fact that the world moves, and that they must progress with it. Science has also tended to popularize farming. It has made it more pleasant and more profitable.

American Railroad Systems; The Erie

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Slawsh."

The Erie railroad, famed in song and story, if not for speed records, begins unostentatiously at Hoboken, N. J., and ends at Chicago, 999 miles west. It has the distinction of touching fewer large towns on its main line than any other great system. Akron and Hoboken are the metropolis passed through by the Chicago train, though Cleveland, Buffalo, Jersey City, Newark and Cincinnati are reached by branches.

The Erie was originally the New York, Lake Erie and Western and did fairly well until it could get hold of it. After enjoying a brief season of perfect finance the remains of the road were reorganized into the Erie system, and for years it was the joke of the American public which traveled on it in its spare time and took a luck when in a hurry.

However, the Erie has been quietly building itself into a magnificent property in the last twenty years. It now has a fine double track line from New York to Chicago. It has the deepest cuts, highest hills, highest locomotives and most imposing bridges. It has the most complete system of freight cars, and for years it was the joke of the American public which traveled on it in its spare time and took a luck when in a hurry.

For years it was the joke of the American public which traveled on it in its spare time and took a luck when in a hurry.

For years it was the joke of the American public which traveled on it in its spare time and took a luck when in a hurry.

man who claims aboard its fine train in Hoboken may rest assured, that he will be delivered in Chicago latest from twenty-eight to thirty-six hours later.

The Erie has 2,414 miles of road. It is capitalized at $175,000,000, and has $250,000,000 in bonds on which to pay interest. It does this with unflinching regularity, but after it has paid out interest and interest out of its $300,000,000 receipts in 1914-15, it only had $159,523 left with which to cheer the stockholders. The Erie hasn't paid any dividends since 1905, but it has made itself into a real railroad and unless some other omnibus financial sets hold of it in the future it will prosper exceedingly.

The Erie's narrowest escape was when J. P. Morgan sold the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton to it about five years ago. Later on he took it back and sold it to the Baltimore & Ohio. When a third president suffered from nightmare he usually dreams that some kind friend had presented his system with the C. & O. for a Christmas gift.

Groceries, Provisions, Produce Highest Quality Lowest Prices

The man or woman that wants high-class groceries, provisions and produce, the man or woman that wants the lowest legitimate prices, know that the one best place to get them is at a Union Supply Company store, and they are regular; daily; monthly; annually; it is the same thing. We are not afflicted with spasms of offering special prices on one article one day in the week, and perhaps elevating the prices on other articles. It is a systematic regulation all the year round. Groceries, produce and provisions; highest quality; lowest prices. Another inducement is the courteous treatment and prompt delivery of goods. It is not our policy to give quotations, or prices, but we state, without any fear of contradiction, there is no legitimate opposition that can sell or do sell goods at less than us. On quantities of flour, potatoes, apples, sugar, canned goods, and other staples, we give you special prices. It is to your interest to investigate. Go to the nearest Union Supply Company store; consult the manager about our special prices on large quantities; but even if you only want to buy small quantities, it is to your advantage to buy at a Union Supply Company Store.

OPPORTUNITY'S KNOCK

When the national manufacturer advertises his product in this newspaper, opportunity knocks at the door of every retailer who carries the goods.

The manufacturer's advertising creates a definite demand. It inspires people with a desire to see the goods.

These people will be attracted to the store that shows them.

They will be customers not only for the manufacturer's goods, but also customers for the storekeeper's goods.

The modern storekeeper is alert to take advantage of the manufacturer's newspaper advertising.

HUNDREDS OF SICK TAKING ADVANTAGE OF DOCTORS OFFER

Inter-State Doctors Connellsville Institute Has Confidence of Sick;
Rapid Relief
for Many.

It is astonishing to know the number of sick people in a city like Conneltsville. A visit to the Inter-State Doctors Institute on the second floor of the Citizens National Bank building at the corner of Main and Apple streets, opposite the Aaron furniture store, would be a revelation to many.

Here is an institute which already claims one of the largest, if not the largest, practices in this section of the state, for almost any hour of the day one may find a number of patients waiting their turn to see the expert specialists who treat those people by the new system of medicine that has already cured many thousands of people throughout the country; that other methods had failed to even benefit. The crowd of patients seems to consist of all classes, rich and poor, business men and mechanics; there is just as great a contrast in ages, from the small infant to the aged, all waiting quietly for their turn to see the specialist in charge of the institute here.

The Inter-State Doctors treat all chronic and degenerated diseases of the nerves, blood, heart, liver, kidneys, bladder, stomach, spleen, brain, etc. Consumption, paralysis, epilepsy, soft stones, goitre, asthma, diabetes, constipation, dyspepsia, catarrh, rupture, excess and diseases of women and diseases of men.

The Inter-State Doctors have thousands of testimonials from many parts of the country, each a genuine and honest statement of what they remain the original signed testimonials. Now and then these are published by permission, to give sick people an idea of the universal praise given the new system of medicine. There are sufficient testimonials published from Pennsylvania people to give absolute proof of genuineness and those who read from day to day may find a neighbor's statement at hand. When this happens consult this patient, then yourself consult the Inter-State Doctors.

The great free offer of free consultation, free examination and free treatment except for the cost of the medicines and their distribution, is extended to all who call on the convenience treatment before February 15, after that date full regular fees will be charged to all. During this extension of time the regular office hours will prevail, which are from 9 A. M. to 12 M.; 1:30 to 4 P. M.; and evenings from 7 to 9 P. M.; Sunday hours are from 9 A. M. to 11 A. M. only.

CANADIAN CAR AND FOUNDRY

Large Steel Orders for Railway Equipment from Abroad.

Senator Nathaniel Curry, president of the Canadian Car & Foundry Company, brought a cheerful message to shareholders on his return from abroad. Senator Curry stated that he hoped within the next few weeks to secure some large steel orders for railway equipment from the Russian and French governments. The workmen generally employed in the car industries, Senator Curry stated, were now saving at the front, and the government would be compelled to enter foreign markets to fill their requirements.

With the exception of a few small orders for rolling stock and the manufacturing of shells for the imperial government, the company's plants have had little to do recently.

FLOOD PITTSBURGH MARKET

Orders for Steel and Other Materials.

Secretary Nordmann, of the Pittsburgh Industrial Development Commission, says that orders for steel and other materials and foodstuffs are pouring into the office of the commission from agents of European countries. An inquiry for about $500,000 worth of wire rope for the British navy has just been received. An agent of the Italian government is seeking for 10,000 tons of flour, 5,000 barrels of lard, 10,000 cases of canned meat and 1,300,000 gallons of gasoline and benzene. This inquiry will probably amount to $200,000. It is understood that the goods are intended for Russia.

MOUNT PLEASANT

Special to The Courier.
MOUNT PLEASANT, Feb. 2.—The school board held their regular monthly meeting last evening and after the regular routine of business, patron's day was set for Friday, February 15. J. S. Fox, secretary of the board, was authorized to attend the annual convention of state school directors in Harrisburg on February 3 and 4. Mr. Fox will leave for Harrisburg this morning.

Rev. C. P. Sallady, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, has arranged a special service next Sunday evening, when the Sunday school orchestra will give half an hour's sacred concert under the direction of Prof. J. Hunter Gumbles. After that will come the regular service.

The Civic Club held their regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon in the municipal building. A good number of the members were present and heard excellent addresses on "Air and Its Necessities." The holder of a summer sewing school for the girls and women is being organized for the winter will be considered at the next meeting.

William Gilles, who is employed at Yukon, had been at his home here on Friday and there being no train in the evening, he went to the hotel and found a trunk and started to walk to Yukon. After he covered a distance of a mile and a half he lost his footing and fell, breaking his leg. Thinking at first that it was a minor injury he put it up and went on, but after a short distance he was unable to walk and he was compelled to sit for five hours and wait for help. Finally the shifting engine with some cars attached came past, and Mr. Gilles was still able to call for help. The crew took him to the Westmoreland Hospital at Greensburg. Although dressed very warm it was a hard matter to fight severe cold for five hours without any protection.

Council held their regular monthly meeting last evening and the following business was transacted: A petition from Center avenue property holders was read, asking for the grade so that a sidewalk could be laid and that they might have free mail delivery. A motion was adopted to have the engineer give the grade. A petition was presented by the taxpayers of the Third ward, asking that the Third Ward House Company be given a house and drying room. This was dropped until the end of the meeting. When Mr. McCarty, who presented the petition, asked that as a courtesy to the taxpayers of the Third ward if they did not expect to accept the petition and a motion was made to accept it which was lost by a vote of 7 to 2. A letter of thanks was read from the Board of Health for the $50 sent by council and for the favors rendered them while in town. All bills were ordered paid. Chairman of the street committee recommended a catch basin on Myron street.

Check for $25.00 was received. The West Penn presented a new method of lighting the town, asking the town to do away with their lights. Councilman R. P. Stevens brought the matter of a house house before the men and stated that a house could be built for more than $2,000. This was dropped and a motion entertained to have a special committee appointed to investigate a combination truck and report at the next meeting whether it be special or regular meeting. The committee was Colwell, Long, Dillon, Hunsinger and Scott.

Mr. Stevens brought up the question of the one man car now being operated through town and stated that it was not safe and for the safety of the people something should be done. Mr. DeVaux stated that he thought it was a matter of two men, two hour service, one for one hour service, and later acknowledged that he or any of his family were afraid of the car and considered it dangerous. Messrs. Long and Dillon stated that with a more substantial brake or not they were not in favor of a one man car because it is for one reason that the one man operating become faint or dizzy or a dozen and one things that might happen, they were lost with the car probably full of people. The discussion resulted in a motion being adopted that the burgess take the matter up with Mr. Coffey and if they must run the one man car an emergency brake must be added.

A motion was adopted to pay the firemen who made the water test on Monday a week ago, $5 each for their day's work. Thirteen men were employed, making the bill $65.

Viewing Grand Opera

By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Swank."

War knows no boundaries and respects no man. It is supposed to occupy itself with the old job of grinding up belligerents into honored names, but it is as likely as not to step aside at any moment and take a dastardly swing at a peaceful nation perched in supposed safety on the side lines.

Because of this fact the United States, a peaceful nation with no ill will to anyone except reformers, will not be able to view grand opera this winter except in a sketchy and unsatisfactory manner.

Way has not only swept the highest priced song-birds of the world into the trenches, but it has left the box-holders of the American opera companies in a financially dire straits. There will be a grand stand-a-line struggle in this country the winter, mostly of the home-made but the scenery surrounding it is not going to be exciting enough to cause a single thrill.

Viewing grand opera has been an American pastime for many years. It has enabled many to enjoy the noblest form of art without having to strain their musical education to detect the difference between an intermezzo and a treble clef. Grand opera has flourished in this country because it has not only stuffed the soul of the music lover full of inspired shivers, but it has also appealed to the eye. A handsome man who has been able to sing down into a $5.00 seat and enjoy a hearty laugh watching a 250-pound woman balancing on an Indian ladder and attempting to embrace a yard wide Juliet who is heading the balcony considerable out of plumb.

Viewing grand opera has also been one of the most interesting social games ever invented. The rules of the game are simple. The contestants turn their backs on the singers and examine the occupants of the boxes carefully through opera glasses, field glasses, binoculars and telescopes. Recognizing a social ladder without referring to the list of exhibits counts one. Recounting a pleasant little story about her counts five. Calling her by her first name in an affectionate manner wins the game and causes the other contestants to be removed by tender hands in a state of collapse.

All of these innocent amusements have been torn from us by war. Grand opera this year will be only a sound and not a sight. One night as well hear it on a graphophone at 1/1,000th the price.

PEG O'MY HEART

By J. Hartley Manners

A Comedy of Youth Founded by Mr. Manners on His Great Play of the Same Title—Illustrations From Photographs of the Play

Copyright, 1913, by Dodd, Mead & Company

Peg looked him all over and laughed openly. Finally she asked Mrs. Chickchester the following amusing question:

"Where's her husband?"

"Ethel's husband?"

"Yes," replied Peg instantly. "I saw her husband when I came in here first. I've been in this room before, you know. I came in through those windows, and I saw her and her husband."

"What in heaven's name does she mean?" cried Alric.

Peg persisted. "I tell you it was she sent me to the kitchen—she and her husband."

"Him? Who in the world does she mean?" from Alric.

"To whom does she refer, Ethel?" from Mrs. Chickchester.

"Mr. Bennett," said Ethel with admirable self-control. She was on thin ice, but she must keep calm.

Mrs. Chickchester looked relieved.

"Sure she thought I was a servant looking for a place, and Mr. Bennett told me not to say a word until he came—and I didn't say a word."

Mr. Bennett now broke in. "My time is short," Mrs. O'Connell. It was your uncle's wish that you should make your home here with Mrs. Chickchester. She will give you every possible advantage to make you a happy and contented, charming young lady."

Peg laughed.

"Lady," Mrs. Bennett said. "You must do everything she tells you. Try to please her in all things. On the first day of every month I will call on her and find out what progress you're making. And now I must take my leave. He picked up his hat and came from the table."

"I'm going to see Mr. Bennett and find out what progress you're making. And now I must take my leave. He picked up his hat and came from the table."

conversation," snapped the old lady severely.

"Then it's all I will have him out of!" cried Peg, springing up and confronting the stately lady of the house.

Mrs. Chickchester regarded her in astonishment and anger.

"No temper, if you please," and she motioned Peg to resume her seat.

Peg sat down, breathing hard, her fingers locking and unlocking, her stinging little heart aching for the one human being she was told not to refer to.

"This house was not going to hold her a prisoner if her father's name was to be slighted or ignored. On that point she was determined. Back to America she would go if her father's name was overruled before her."

Mrs. Chickchester's voice broke the silence.

"You must take my daughter as you model in all things."

Peg looked at Ethel, and all her anger vanished temporarily. The idea of taking that young lady as a model appealed to her as being irresistibly amusing. She smiled broadly at Ethel.

Mrs. Chickchester went on.

"Everything my daughter does you must try to imitate. You could not have a better example. Mold yourself from her."

"Imitate her, is it?" asked Peg innocently, with a twinkle in her eye, and the suggestion of impishness in her manner.

"So far as lies in your power," replied Mrs. Chickchester.

A picture of Ethel struggling to restrain her arms suddenly flashed across Peg's mind, and before she could restrain herself she had said in exact imitation of her cousin.

"Please don't! It is so hot this morning!"

Then Peg laughed loudly at Ethel's horror and Mrs. Chickchester's disgust.

"How dare you?" cried her aunt.

Peg looked at her a moment; all the mirth died away.

"Mustn't I laugh in this house?" she asked.

"You have a great deal to learn your education will begin tomorrow."

"Sure, that will be false," and she chuckled.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Peg's New Surroundings.

Peg's little heart was craving for some show of kindness. It was going to stay there, and she would make the best of it. She would make some friendly advances to them, she held her hand out to Mrs. Chickchester.

"I'm sure I'm very grateful to you for taking me to live with you," she said. "My father will be too. But, you see, it's all so strange to the boys, and I'm so far away—and I miss my father so much."

Mrs. Chickchester, ignoring the outstretched hand, stopped her abruptly.

"Go with him!" And she pointed up the stairs, on the first landing of which stood the portly Jarvis waiting to conduct Peg out of the family's sight.

Peg dropped a little courtesy to Mrs. Chickchester, smiled at Ethel, looked left at Alric, then ran up the stairs, and, following the footman's index finger pointing the way, she disappeared from Mrs. Chickchester's unhappy gaze.

The three looked at each other.

"Awful!" said Alric.

"Terrible!" agreed Mrs. Chickchester.

"One thing is absolutely necessary," Mrs. Chickchester went on to say—"she must be kept away from every one for the present."

"I should say so!" cried Alric eagerly. Suddenly she ejaculated:

"Good Lord! Jerry—his mustn't see when my heart's charm wove!"

When my dream of life from morn till night.

"Was love, still love?"

New hope may bloom

And days may come

Or milder, calmer beam

But there's nothing half as sweet in life

As love's young dream!"

As she let the last bars die away and gave Cupid a little caress and was about to commence the next verse a vivid flash of lightning played around the room, followed almost immediately by a crash of thunder.

Peg cowered down into a deep chair.

All the laughter died from her face and the joy in her heart. She made the sign of the cross, knelt down and prayed.

Into the room through the window came a young man, his coat collar turned up, rain pouring from his hat. Inside his coat was a terrified-looking dog. The man came well into the room, turning down the collar of his coat and shaking the moisture from his clothes when he suddenly saw the kneeling figure of Peg. He looked down at her in surprise. She was intent on her prayers.

"Hollo!" cried the young man.

"Frightened, eh?"

Peg looked up and saw him staring down at her with a smile on his lips. Inside his coat was her precious little dog, trembling with fear. The terrified barked loudly when he saw his mistress.

Peg followed Jarvis up the stairs.

her. He'd laugh his head off at the loss of my having a relation like her. He'll probably run in to lunch."

"Then she must remain in her room until he's gone," said Mrs. Chickchester determinedly. "I'll go into town now and order some things for her and see about tutors. She must be taught and at once."

"Why put up with this nonsense at all?" asked Ethel.

Mrs. Chickchester put her arm around Ethel and said:

"One thousand pounds a year, that is the reason."

"Wait a minute, mater," put in Alric. "I'll go with you as far as the station road and see if I can head Jerry off. His train is almost due if it's punctual."

He was genuinely concerned that his old chum should not meet that impossible little red-headed Irish heathen whom an unkind fate had dropped down in their midst.

At the hall door Mrs. Chickchester told Jarvis that her niece was not to leave her room without permission.

As Mrs. Chickchester and Alric passed out they little dreamed that the same relentless fate was planning still further humiliations for the unfortunate family and through the new and unwelcome addition to it.

Peg was shown by the maid, Bennett, into a charming old world room overlooking the rose garden. Everything about it was in the most exquisite taste. The furniture was of white and gold, the vases of Sevres, a few admirable prints on the walls and roses everywhere.

Left to her reflections, poor Peg found herself wondering how people with so much that was beautiful around them could live and act as the Chickchester family apparently did. They seemed to borrow nothing from their once illustrious and prosperous dead. They were, it would appear, only concerned with a particularly near present.

The splendor of the house and the narrowness of the people irritated her. What an unequal condition of things where so much of the world's goods while her father had to struggle all his life for the bare necessities!

Very much comforted by the reflection and having exhausted all the curious things in the little marble room, she determined to see the rest of the house. First she changed to another dress.

At the top of the stairs she met the maid Bennett.

"Mrs. Chickchester left word that you were not to leave your room without permission. I was just going to tell you," said Bennett.

All Peg's independent Irish blood flared up. What would she be doing shut up in a little white and gold room all day? She answered the maid excitedly.

"Tell Mrs. Chickster I am not going to do anything of the kind. As long as I stay in this house I'll see every bit of it!" and she swept past the maid down the stairs into the same room for the third time.

"You'll only get me into trouble," cried the maid.

"No, I won't. I wouldn't get you into trouble for the world. I'll get all the trouble, and I'll get it now!"

Peg ran across, opened the door and connecting with the hall and called out:

"Aunt! Cousins! Aunt! Come here! I want to tell you about myself!"

"They're all gone out," said the maid quickly.

"Then what are you making such a fuss about? You go out too!"

She watched the disappointed Bennett leave the room and then, having a tour of inspection. She had never seen so many strange things outside of a museum.

Thereon in armor gazed at her out of massive frames old gentlemen in powdered wig smiled pleasantly at her, haughty ladies in brocade became confused and stared suspiciously right through her. She felt most uncomfortable in such strange company.

On the piano she found a perfectly carved bronze statuette of Cupid. She gave a little flash of delight, took the statuette in her arms and kissed it.

"Cupid, my darling! Faith, it's you that causes all the mischief in the world, so do I!" she cried.

All her depression vanished. She was like a child again. She sat down at the piano and played the simple refrain and sang in her little girlish tremulous voice one of her father's favorite songs, her eyes on Cupid.

"Oh, the days are gone when beauty bright

My heart's charm wove!

When my dream of life from morn till night

Was love, still love!"

New hope may bloom

And days may come

Or milder, calmer beam

But there's nothing half as sweet in life

As love's young dream!"

As she let the last bars die away and gave Cupid a little caress and was about to commence the next verse a vivid flash of lightning played around the room, followed almost immediately by a crash of thunder.

Peg cowered down into a deep chair.

All the laughter died from her face and the joy in her heart. She made the sign of the cross, knelt down and prayed.

channel away from the stranger just as another blinding flash played around the room, followed by a deafening report.

Peg ran across to the door, shouting. "Shut it out! Shut it out!" She stood there trembling, covering her eyes with one hand, with the other she held on to the overjoyed Michael, who was whining with glee at seeing her again.

The amazed and amused young man closed the windows and the curtains.

"Don't come near the dog sir! Don't come near it!" She opened a door and found it led into a little reception room. She fastened Michael with a piece of string to a chair in the room and came back to look again at the stranger, who had evidently rescued her dog from the storm. He was a tall, bronzed, athletic looking, broad shouldered young man of about twenty-six, with a pleasant, genial, magnetic manner and a playful humor lurking in his eyes.

As Peg looked him all over she found that he was smiling down at her.

"Does the dog belong to you?" he queried.

"What were you doing with him?" she asked in reply.

"I found him barking at a very high spirited mare."

"Mare?" cried Peg. "Where?"

"Tied to the stable door. Is that where they put Michael?" Once again the lightning flashed vividly.

Peg shivered.

The stranger reassured her.

"Don't be frightened. It's only a summer storm."

"Summer or winter, they shiver me up," gasped Peg. She looked at the young man and said in an awestruck voice:

"They say if you look at the sky when the lightning comes you can see the kingdom of heaven. An' the sight of it blinds some and kills others—according to the state of grace you're in."

"You're a Catholic?" said the stranger.

"What else would I be?" asked Peg in surprise.

Again the lightning lit the room. Peg closed her eyes again and shivered.

"Doesn't it seem to be angry with us for our sins?" she cried.

"With me perhaps—not with you," answered the stranger.

"What do you mean by that?" asked Peg.

"You don't know what sin is," replied the young man.

"An' who may you be to talk to me like that?" demanded Peg.

"My name is Jerry," he said.

"Jerry?" And Peg looked at him curiously.

"Yes. What is yours?"

"Peg!" And there was a sudden note of fixed determination in her tone.

"Peg, eh?" And the stranger smiled. She nodded and looked at him curiously. What a strange name he had—Jerry! She had never heard such a name before associated with such a distinguished looking man.

"Jerry, did you say?"

"Just plain Jerry," he answered cheerfully. "And you're Peg."

She nodded again, with a quick little smile. "Just plain Peg."

"I don't agree with you," said the young man. "I think you are very charming."

After a pause he went on, "Who are you?"

"I'm my aunt's niece," replied Peg, looking at him faintly.

Jerry laughed again.

"And who is your aunt?"

"Mrs. Chickster."

"Whom?"

Poor Peg tried again at the absurd tongue-tie name.

"My aunt is Mrs. Chickster."

"Mrs. Chickster?" asked Jerry in surprise.

"That's it," said Peg.

"How extraordinary!"

"Isn't it? You wouldn't expect a fine lady like her to have a niece like me, would you?"

"That isn't what I meant," corrected Jerry.

"Yes, it is what you meant. Don't tell untruths with the storm raging outside!" replied Peg.

"I'm thinking that I don't remember her Aunt ever telling me that she had such a charming cousin!"

"Oh, do you know Alric?" asked Peg, with a quick smile.

"Very well," answered Jerry. Peg's smile developed into a long laugh.

"And why that laugh?" queried Jerry.

"I'd like my father to see Alric. I'd like him just to see Alric for one minute. He's self a conceited person."

"I admire your delightful accent," replied Jerry.

"Accent is it? And Peg looked at him in astonishment. "Sure, I've no accent. I just speak naturally. It's you have the accent to my way of thinking."

"Really?" asked the amused Jerry. Peg imitated the young man's well-bred, polished tone.

"Vah you bawn theah?"

Jerry laughed immoderately. Who was this extraordinary little person? was the one thought that was in his mind.

Airing Ironed Garments. The importance of a thorough airing of clothes after ironing cannot be overemphasized—not only on the score of health, but on those of appearance and economy. Clothes put away damp do not look smooth and well finished when taken out for use and there is a danger of their becoming damaged by mildew.

JOHNSTOWN HEARS CARNEGIE IS BACK OF J. V. THOMPSON

Report in the Flood City is that Canny Scot is Interested.

COAL LAND PRICES TO GO UP

The Story is Told That Uniontown
Man Will Start Holdings at $34-
000,000, Boost That to $10,000,000
Unless It is Sold, Then Boost Again.

The following story is taken from the Johnstown Leader. Efforts to confirm it have not been successful, but the tale has not been denied. According to the Leader, J. V. Thompson has interested powerful backing, and if the story happens to be true, there is little question of matters righting themselves in the not far distant future. The Leader says:

Financial quakes in the vicinity of Uniontown and J. V. Thompson's bank, tremors from which have been felt in Somerset county and other sections of the state, are subsiding upon the strength of an apparently well-founded report that Andrew Carnegie is standing behind the Thompson interests and urging the Fayette county baron to hold out for a fair price on all his enormously rich coal lands.

The story comes to Johnstown through sources which are interested in some of the properties involved in the Uniontown matter. It is to the effect that Mr. Carnegie has sent a definite message to Mr. Thompson that upon receipt of this Mr. Thompson notified the interests which have been negotiating for some of his coal lands that the price still remains at $24,000,000, that this price goes up to $10,000,000 in a few days and that it will increase $10,000,000 annually hereafter to run indefinitely period.

It is also known that many of Mr.
Thompson's associates have had some satisfactory assurances and that some of the creditors have been paid off.

The state treasurer at Harrisburg Thursday received a check for its deposit of $45,000 in the First National Bank of Uniontown, with interest.

Andrew Carnegie and J. C. Frick some years ago had one of the biggest battles in the industrial history of the country. P. C. Knox and other big attorneys got into it. The battle was for control of the Carnegie Steel Company. A truce was patched up. Carnegie retired at a tremendous price and Mr. Frick was free to extend his activities in United States Steel and other fields. Now that United States Steel is supposed to be interested in the coal land deals which went wrong and thereby precipitated the Uniontown bank troubles, the report that Mr. Carnegie is throwing United States Steel bonds and other securities to the support of Thompson is creating great interest.

Mr. Carnegie, like Thompson, has fought the big railroads. The Uniontown man followed the lead of the steel master in the threat of building competitor railroads. Mr. Carnegie went through with one project, the Bessemer railroad to the lake, by which he reduced the cost of hauling ore from the lakes to his plants at Braddock, Duquesne and Homestead.
He threatened to take another big stride and run a trunk line to the water. Thompson organized himself into a company to build a railroad from Uniontown to river navigation on the Ohio at Wheeling.

DIG WHISTLING MATCH

Joe Turner and Archie Parker to be in the Main Go Here.

Joe Turner of Washington and Archie Parker of Pittsburgh will meet on the mat here next Tuesday evening.
Jack Stevens, who is promoting the bout, has engaged the Slavish Hall for the affair. In addition to the main bout between Turner and Parker, two women have also been booked. They are Dora Nelson of Pittsburgh, who recently defeated Cora Livingston, for years the woman champion, and Anna
Turner, one of the famous Turner sisters.

Efforts are being made to stage a high class wrestling attraction as it is hoped to put the game on a permanent footing here.

PROPOSES INVESTIGATION

Bill in House Authorizes I. C. C. to Investigate Quality of Coal Congressman Cury of Wisconsin has recently introduced a bill in the house authorizing the Interstate Commerce Commission to investigate the complaint against the quality of coal being sold throughout the country. It is stated in the resolution that
"the purchasers of coal, and especially the poor man and the workman, of average means, who buy coal in one and two ton lots, are constantly complaining of the amount of slate and stone found in coal, although we are told that coal is screened and sorted from slate and stone before sale."

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good.
Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Paffen, Carpenter,
